BEER DRINKING NOT DISORDERLY

Not Even if It Is Done on Sunday, Says Judge Kimball.

Judge Kimball decided in the police court yesterday that beer drinking in a stable on Sunday was not necessarily disorderly conduct, unless the drinkers created such a state of affairs. This decision was rendered in the case of Thomas Wade, John Wansley, Thomas Craig, George Wansley, Eugene Brown and Wash. Curry.

These men are all colored, and they were arrested by the Ninth precinct police Sunday in a stable in rear of No. 606 Twelfth street northeast, where they had a keg of beer on tap, while several empty kegs were scattered about the place. The case was dismissed, as it was not shown that the men had been disorderly.

JOHNNY JONES SENTENCED

Thirty Days and a Small Fine for Killing His Brother.

PLEA OF GUILTY ENTERED

The Boys Quarreled About a Piece of Bread, Which Led to the Shooting—Justice Bingham Hears the Evidence and Imposes a Light Sentence.

John G. Jones, colored, the thirteen-year-old slayer of his brother, entered a plea of guilty of manslaughter, in criminal court, No. 1, yesterday afternoon, and was sentenced to thirty days in jail and a fine of $5.

The facts of the killing are that on May 8 last, the two boys quarreled in the house of Dr. Morris, their employer, No. 815 Fourteenth street northwest, over a piece of bread. Robert, the dead boy, who was several years older than his brother, struck the latter several times, John then went upstairs and procured Dr. Morris' pistol, he says, for the purpose of frightening his brother. But when he pointed it at the latter's head the pistol went off and the bullet entered the skull causing almost instant death.

The grand jury in the January term indicted the boy for murder, to which, through his counsel, Herbert M. Locke, he entered a plea of not guilty.

Yesterday, however, when the case came up for trial before Chief Justice Bingham, Attorney Locke stated that he would withdraw the plea of not guilty and substitute a plea of manslaughter. Assistant District Attorney Stillington, for the Government, favored the acceptance of the plea, but the court decided to first hear the evidence in the case.

A number of witnesses were thereupon examined, who gave the little defendant an excellent character, and while no one was present at the shooting, all the circumstances pointed to an accidental killing.

Chief Justice Bingham, in reviewing the trial, said that the duty of the court was to sift the testimony to find whether there was a probability which would necessitate a jury trial for murder, whether it had been negligent, which would justify the court in accepting the plea as rendered, or whether it was in self-defense or an accident, in which case the court would permit the defense to withdraw the plea of not guilty and enter one of guilty of manslaughter, to be tried by jury.

From the evidence brought out in the case the court would hold that the defendant was guilty of technical manslaughter. He had no right to point the pistol toward his brother, and that he was doing an unlawful act and was guilty of negligence. The court would therefore pass judgment that the defendant is legally liable for manslaughter.

"The boy," the court continued, "is suffering from the results of his foolish act, and is not a dangerous person; he is innocent of the death of his brother. I do not think the ends of justice call for a long term."

"Under all the circumstances I think there should be a sentence imposed, but in view of the youth and previous good character of the boy, and as the boy has already been confined for a period of three months, a short term should be imposed."

The prisoner was told to stand up to receive sentence, and did so, trembling with nervousness.

The court then imposed the light and almost nominal sentence stated above.

McELHONN FINE AND FREED.

Motion for New Trial Withdrawn and the Court Is Merciful.

In the case of the United States vs. Philip McElhonn, who was on the 30th ultimo found guilty of receiving certain manuscripts, the defendant of the Congressional Library, from some person, with the presumption that he had an opportunity of knowing them to be the property of the United States, Mr. Charles A. Douglass, the attorney for the defendant, yesterday withdrew his motion for a new trial, and asked for judgment and one for a new trial—and threw his client on the mercy of the court.

In imposing sentence upon McElhonn Judge Bradley said that owing to the previous good character and youth of McElhonn, he had decided to make the penalty a fine, without imprisonment, and named $200 as the amount, McElhonn to stand committed until the fine was paid. The marshal's office was immediately visited by McElhonn and his attorney, the fine paid, and he was discharged from custody.

PERMIT FOR TELEPHONE POLES.

Commissioners Grant Authority to Chesapeake & Potomac Company.

The Commissioners have ordered a permit issued to the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, in so far as their jurisdiction lies, over a line of poles for the purpose of erecting telephone poles on Grant road, on Grant road to Tenleytown road. The poles are to be at least forty-five feet high, marked and numbered under the direction of the engineer department of the District.

In the event of the poles being less than forty feet high, protection must be given the shade trees and sufficient wire clearance for high covered wagons, except on that portion of Grant road through Tenleytown. The permit is given with the understanding that the property owners on the land abutting the proposed line are agreeable to his construction.

The Best Remedy for Rheumatism.

From the Fairhaven (N. Y.) Register. Mr. James Rowland, of this village, states that for twenty-five years his wife has been a sufferer from rheumatism. A few months ago she was so much in pain that she was nearly crazy. She sent Mr. Rowland for the doctor, but he had read of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and instead of going for the physician he went to the store and secured a bottle of it. His wife did not approve of Mr. Rowland's purchase at first, but nevertheless applied the Balm thoroughly, and in an hour's time was able to go to sleep. She now applies it whenever she feels an ache or a pain and finds that it always gives relief. He says that no medicine which she had used ever did her as much good. The Balm is for sale by Henry Evans, Wholesale and Retail Druggist, 938 F. st. and Conn. ave. and 8 st. nw.

LIBERTY MARKET CLAIMS.

Commissioner Wight Confers With Committee Regarding Them.

Commissioner Wight went to the Capitol yesterday to confer with the members of the District Committee regarding the intention of Congress in the act providing for the relief of the stall holders and others of the Northern Liberty Market which was approved in January last, and as a result of which many claims are now awaiting adjudication. Several of these claims were sent to the Commissioners last week by Auditor Payne, but on account of the vague provisions of the act of Congress the Commissioners decided not to issue the drawback certificates provided for until the act of Congress had been expressed.

The obstacle seems to be allowances made for loss of "good will" sustained by the claimants, which the Commissioners think that "good will" is not a physical property, and therefore not worthy of remuneration.

Commissioner Wight talked with different members and Senators, and it is quite probable that no further steps will be taken in the matter of adjudication until the wishes of Congress have been made known.

CADETS ROUTED BY RAIN

Drill of the Colored Soldier Boys Rudely Interrupted.

Field Day at the Baseball Park Spoiled by a Deluge—Postponed Until This Afternoon.

That the time-worn proverb, "It never rains but it pours," is a remarkably true one can be truthfully attested to by Companies A, B, and C of the Colored High School and the 7,000 people who gathered at the Washington Baseball Park yesterday afternoon to witness the competitive drill. It was the first time that the colored people of the city ever assembled at the park.

It was the first time that the colored people of the city ever assembled at the park. It was the first time that the colored people of the city ever assembled at the park. It was the first time that the colored people of the city ever assembled at the park.

Long before the time scheduled for the program to begin the grand stand was filled. The whole assembly presented a very pretty picture, and every conceivable color could be seen in the moving mass of pretty dresses, new spring bonnets, and company colors.

Here and there the spectators waved flags, some of yellow and purple, the colors of Company C; some of yellow and blue, the colors of Company A, but the great majority were of white and blue, the badge of the United States.

Shortly before 4 o'clock the sound of martial music was heard, and amid cheers the three companies, headed by the Capital City Band, filed just outside to Sousa's "Washington High School March," entered the grounds.

The troops, Major C. H. O'Connell, Inspector general of the D. C. N. G.; Capt. W. H. Horton, of the 10th, Ordway's staff, and Capt. E. C. Edwards, of Company A, Second Regiment, D. C. N. G., entered the field just as the cadets were finishing their introductory march, and were loudly cheered.

The first company to line up before the judges was Company A, and as Capt. Edwards brought his command to a present the air fairly vibrated with the yell of delight sent up from the ranks of the students. They were at once stacked, and the examination began. The boys were put through the seventy-one movements, and if there were any mistakes made very few outside of the judges were any the wiser for it. Every maneuver was gone through with a precision that would have done credit to the regular army.

The marching was excellent and was executed without an error, and when Company A was dismissed by the judges there was a pleased and confident look on every face.

Then the band struck up a lively air and Company B came marching across the green field and took its place to make a bid for favor.

If the reception accorded to Company A was great that accorded to Company B was simply stupendous, and it was evident that the great things that the judges had to say were in praise of the boys. They were dismissed by the judges there was a pleased and confident look on every face.

And then it began to rain, at first only a few drops fell, then those on the bleachers began to seek shelter, and then it began to pour, but still the boys kept on undaunted, and not till the judges gave orders to break ranks did they flinch. Then there was a wild scamper for cover by judges, officers and men, as though all the armies of Europe were after them.

The drill was postponed until today at 5 o'clock, when the boys will be called upon to repeat the drill, and it was long before they were dismissed by the judges.

Meanwhile the audience began to put up their umbrellas, and the scene of joy was at once changed into an eager, though orderly, crowd of water-drenched people, anxious to get home. But the rain seemed to have no effect on the boys, and they were dismissed by the judges at 7 o'clock before the grand stand was empty.

There were many prominent people present, among them Ex-Governor P. B. S. Pinchback, of Louisiana; ex-Senator R. K. Bruce, trustee; Superintendent of Schools W. H.
